

Kish posing no problems

Kish, a glittery silver substance that has been raining down on cars and sidewalks in the Granite City area for over a year, is posing no health problems, it was asserted here Thursday.

Granite City Mayor Von Dee Cruse was updated Thursday on efforts by the Illinois Environmental Protection Agency to determine its source.

"THEY (IEPA) KNOW it's coming from Granite City Steel," commented Henry Bieniecki, assistant to Cruse.

"One positive thing we got out of the meeting is that the stuff which has appeared recently is kish. We aren't dealing with anything different."

Bieniecki said the IEPA and Granite City Steel are working together to try to locate the cause of the material.

"BY ITSELF, it isn't harmful to anyone's health," Bieniecki said. "It's more of a nuisance than anything. It gets all over your car and things like that."

"But because of the size of the particles, they can't be breathed in by anyone."

Bieniecki said most of the particles are one or two millimeters in diameter.

Plant being built

GRANITE CITY — Over $3.2 million in construction was approved by the city in the first half of 1985.

According to the engineering department's semi-annual construction report, the major new addition in the city is Broning Bearing, a bearings manufacturing plant going up at Rock Road and Division Avenue in West Granite City.

CONSTRUCTION THERE will cost $152,000.

"It's not really a very big building," said Ed Schulze, city engineer. "I'm not sure when they are scheduled to be finished, but I know it has gone up fairly quickly. By the looks of it, I would say it could be done in four to eight more weeks."

Industrial repairs for January through June included $1,344,000 for remodeling at the newly-reopened A.O. Smith Corp. plant, $80,000 at C.D. Peters Metal Building, $20,000

MADISON LANDMARK RAZED. One of the last walls of the Greenhall Tavern, 801 Washington Ave., is pulled down Friday afternoon. A controversial topic at recent Madison City Council meetings, the tavern had been a thriving night spot for more than four decades. Madison Street Department crews provided the manpower to raze the structure which had become an eyesore in the neighborhood.

WW II Army medals come 40 years late

By DAVE WHALEY
Staff writer

The U.S. Army may move slowly, sometimes, but it does keep promises.

Ask Jim Gibbs.

GIBBS, 64, of Granite City received a Bronze Star Medal and a Soldier's Medal for bravery in World War II.

So what, you say? Well, he just received those medals in the mail this March.

"This really isn't that unusual, from what I've heard," Gibbs said.

"For one reason or another, the Army has lost a lot of records over the years. I know there was a fire in St. Louis in the late 1940s or early '50s when a lot of records were burned."

SPEAKING OF FIRES, that's how Gibbs earned his medals. He was with the 72nd Railway Operating Battalion, Company C, in France on Jan. 10, 1945, when his outfit heard a loud noise near Lison.

"We were about 20 miles away, but we could still hear it," Gibbs said. "It still shook and knocked some guys over. A couple of them even had concussions."

AN AMMUNITION TRAIN had stopped on the tracks, but a clothing train running behind it did not. The result, according to Gibbs, was "a terrific explosion."

Gibbs, a sergeant, and eight other men from his outfit jumped into their trucks and headed for the scene. It took them 30 minutes to get there.

"The ammunition train had some bombs wrapped in wooden collars for packing purposes," Gibbs said.

"THEY HAD BURNED off and these bombs were ready to go off. There was a lieutenant colonel there (Francis Goodwin), and he ordered me to help roll the bombs out of the fire. That's how I 'volunteered' for the job."

Gibbs said the bombs were very hot, and course, and he didn't have any gloves to protect his hands. But he and Goodwin managed to push the bombs out of danger.

THE EXPLOSION, however, did kill "six or eight" people, Gibbs said. One of them was an American soldier and the rest were French citizens.

"We were there maybe two hours," he said. "By then the fire was under control. But it made a hole in the ground 50 feet wide, 100 feet long and 25 feet deep. And the car involved in the explosion was destroyed."

Later in 1945, after the war had ended, Gibbs found out he was to be honored with the medals. In a letter to his wife in November, he said one of the men with him had heard the medals would be arriving within a week.

"I REALLY DON'T know what happened then," Gibbs said. "I just never got it."

He didn't hear anything again until 1946, when he got a notice from the War Department in Washington, D.C., from Maj. Gen. Edward Whitsell, the adjutant general.

Gibbs was told to report in full uniform to Jefferson Barracks in St. Louis to receive his medals.

"BUT I NEVER liked all that publicity and everything that went with it," he said. "I wrote a letter back to them telling them to just send them to my house."

Again he got no reply, but Gibbs didn't complain. He just continued his work at St. Louis' Terminal Railroad, where he worked 41 years before retiring in 1982.

Then, last year, Gibbs' son saw a newspaper item about medals for military heroes that had never been distributed.

GIBBS WROTE a letter to U.S. Rep. Melvin Price, D-East St. Louis, asking what he might be able to do. "He got the job done for me," Gibbs said.

Price received a letter from Lt. Col. B.M. Poulos, the Army's Congressional coordinator, saying the Army would try to get Gibbs' medals delivered.

Finally, on March 11, they arrived.

"IT NEVER BOTHERED me that much," Gibbs said. "But still I always thought it would be nice to have them."

Gibbs arrived in Europe Dec. 17, 1943, and spent much of his time in France.

"It was just one of those things you have to do at the time," he said of his efforts at Lison. "I was just one of several guys there. That colonel saw me and said, 'Sergeant, get these bombs out of here.'"

"So I didn't exactly volunteer. He kind of volunteered me," Gibbs said with a smile.

ASKED IF HE would perform a similar task if faced with it again, Gibbs laughed and said, "If someone ordered me to do it, yes, I would."

So, although he didn't push others out of the way to perform his mission, Sgt. Jim Gibbs got the job done. And now, after more than 40 years, the Army has rewarded him.

Venice allocates 'shared' revenue

By VALERIE EVENEDEN
Staff writer

VENICE — Budget uses of federal revenue sharing funds in the City of Venice for the period of May 1, 1985, through April 30, 1986, were approved by the Venice City Council following a July 9 public hearing in the City Hall.

"I think we're working more on an estimate than anything else. It all depends on what the federal government does," Mayor Tyrone Echols said in presenting the proposed budget.

A total of $94,554 was projected in the new budget.

"THIS IS NOT a radical change from anything we've proposed in previous years," the mayor said.

Some reductions in the various amounts were noted, however, when comparing the new figures to last year's larger total of $159,186.

Variations in the allotted amounts probably result from larger balances remaining in the different categories last year when the 1984-85 budget was prepared. City Attorney Lawrence Hartman said.

Included in the new budget is a $13,992 balance from 1984-85 funds.

CITY OFFICIALS proposed the total of $94,554 be utilized in the following way, with the 1984-85 amounts listed in parentheses:

Senior Citizens and Association of Retired Persons, $20,000 ($20,000); ambulance services, $2,000 ($1,500); city buildings and repairs, $5,000 (same); police protection and salaries, $67,054 ($121,685); and administrative costs, $500 ($1,000).

In the council session, Echols also relayed a congratulatory message from Lee E. Verstandig, under secretary of the U. S. Department of Housing and Urban Development.

"GOVERNOR JIM Thompson has just informed me today that he has designated an area of Venice, Granite City, Madison and Madison

National City wants to annex raceway for more tax money

By BONITA L. GOWER
Staff writer

NATIONAL CITY — Is international going national?

St. Louis International Raceway could become an official part of National City if officials in both sides have their way, it was learned last week.

Lynn Wittick, vice chairman of the National Stockyards Co., said city officials wanted to add to their revenue base because of increased costs in expenditures.

"It's very difficult to keep a municipality going," he said. "Our main, and really our only, expenses are the police and fire departments. There just isn't enough industry in the city to pay the bills."

The city's budget is about $450,000 a year. Wittick said that expenditures continue to rise while the same number of people (just over 100) pay the bills. The city council would rather annex profitable property than ask residents for more money, he added.

Track officials are just as amenable to the annexation proposal as National City, Wittick said. However, no one at the track could be reached for comment Friday.

The City of Madison tried unsuccessfully to annex the track earlier this year, but that plan was dropped and track officials approved an agreement with St. Clair County to remain in its unincorporated region.

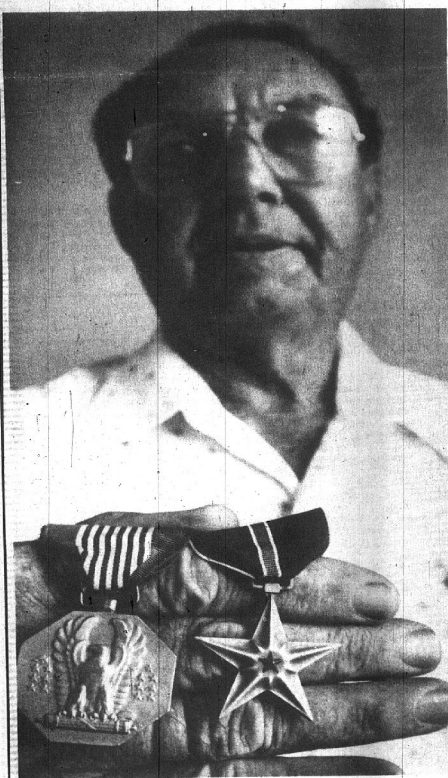

Former Madison Mayor Mike Sasysk had sought to tax receipts on concessions and to obtain security jobs at the facility for his citizens in exchange for providing the track with bonding authority from the city.

Wittick said he is unsure how long it will take to complete plans for the annexation because several items must first be approved by various agencies.

For example, the Metro-East Sanitary District must approve an easement for the city to cross a portion of a canal which is on MESD property.

MESD Supervisor Shang Greathouse said the matter was turned over to the agency's attorney to avoid the kind of problems encountered during the Madison annexation effort.

"We went into the annexation with Madison and a lot of people were mad, so we turned this over to the attorney to make sure it was okay," he said.

Pentagon should study the French

By Jack Anderson and Joseph Spear

WASHINGTON — American military officials have customarily treated anything French as worthy only of amusement or contempt. Certainly it never occurred to the big spenders in the Pentagon that they might profitably emulate the French defense establishment's businesslike way of buying weapons until now.

A Pentagon official has written a memorandum comparing the French and U.S. methods of weapons procurement, and the comparison is odious indeed for the American way. If the memo, which is circulating at high levels in the mighty money-machine across the Potomac, is taken seriously and acted upon, it could save the taxpayers billions.

Our associate Indy Badwar obtained a copy of the memo, and it's a beaut. In withering scornful fashion, it explains that adoption of the French defense contract system would virtually deplete the Pentagon of paper shufflers and force the army of consultants, thumbsuckers and lobbyists that batten on the defense budget to go out and find honest work.

Although France is the world's third largest weapons producer, its Armament Directorate is much less an astonishingly small bureaucracy, the memo notes. No more than 25 well paid, solidly tenured, highly experienced professionals do the work of, quite literally, tens of thousands of U.S. bureaucrats in the Washington area, the memo states. "Of course," it adds with ill-concealed derision, "most of us are writing memos to each other."

Asked how they could make do with such a tiny force of procurement officers, a senior Pentagon official replied, according to the memo, "But of course. Twenty-five people is plenty. How large does it take a well-informed person to decide at a ministerial level that this missile or that aircraft is a good or bad idea?"

That's a good question, which the French official answered by saying: "It is not any question of detailed studies but a question of common sense and political courage."

Crucial to the French method is the fact that there is no interference from the chiefs of staff of the armed services. They have defined their requirements — or from legislators determined to grab a juicy defense contract for the factories back home. The procurement officers' independence is strictly protected, and any meddling "door" job seeking or offering is severely punished.

"Tens of thousands of bureaucrats would be unhorsed" if the French system were adopted in this country, the memo says. It adds: "There would also be a ripple effect (trickle down) because tens of thousands of people in the engineering support-consultant-think tank-defense intellectual business (generically called 'Bellway Bandits') would also be superfluous."

because there would be nobody left to read the tons of driver they turn out every year. ... Lobbyists, congressional staffers and the diamond-cufflink, Gucci-shoe set in the Washington offices of the major corporations would be out of work because the people left in the bureaucracy would be too busy and too smart to bother with them."

We'd like to suggest that Congress and the Pentagon send over a delegation to study the French system. The leader could proclaim: "Lafayette, we are here to learn."

KUDOS OF THE WEEK: Our investigation into the General Dynamics scandal has turned up an instance of extraordinary integrity. In 1978, Rep. Charles Bennett, D-Fla., was invited to speak at the launching of the nuclear submarine Jacksonville in Groton, Conn. It turned out to be "one of the most expensive speeches I ever made in my life," he said. The reason: He insisted on paying General Dynamics for the gifts — silver trays, gold bracelets, a clock-barometer — that the contractor gave him and his family as mementoes. Bennett sent the company a check for $1,258 and reimbursed the Treasury for the $1,668.50 in Navy transportation costs.

—Donald Hodel, the peripatetic secretary of the Interior, recently logged about 10,000 miles flying to overseas outposts of his far-flung bureaucratic empire. But Hodel, unlike most other high-level government officials, flew coach so he could work with his staff en route. Hodel's air fare for the 13-day trip, which included stops in Alaska and American Samoa, was $1,800. First-class fare would have been $4,000 or more.

WATCH THE KREMLIN: The Soviets claim they will leave Afghanistan once they have helped their ally crush the opposition. But the Kabul regime has secretly given the Soviet Union a long-disputed finger of mountainous Afghan territory known as the Wakhan Corridor, which separates Pakistan and Soviet central Asia. The Soviets have already begun building military installations on their newly annexed stretch of the Hindu Kush Mountains.

Soviet occupation troops in Afghanistan are busily setting up surface-to-air missile batteries around Kabul, and the move has U.S. intelligence analysts baffled. The Afghan guerrillas don't have an air force. Are the Soviets expecting an invasion from the United States? Pakistan? China?

Parks touch all lives

In 1966 the Granite City Park District will celebrate its 63th year of continuous service to the community.

The Park District's rich tradition began when it was formed on Feb. 19, 1922, as the result of a special election called for by residents' petitions. It became the 30th such district formed in the state of Illinois. Today there are over 200 such districts.

The first piece of property purchased was the triangular tract across from the hospital, dedicated eventually as Memorial Park to honor the area's war veterans. Today, a beautiful colored-light water fountain continues to pay tribute to our veterans.

Presently there are over 150 acres of park land in the system. The three major parks are: Wilson, opened in 1923; Worthen, purchased in 1962; and West Granite, purchased in 1966. Other parks include Civic Stadium, Memorial, Rode, Tri-City, Triangle, the Frohardt School ball fields area and the 24th Street and 27th Street parkways.

Facilities include three lighted softball fields, 11 baseball fields, four soccer fields, six lighted tennis courts, one unlighted tennis court, two outdoor basketball courts, a swimming pool, ice rink, six playgrounds, five concession buildings, the Harold Brown Recreation Center, the Lincoln Place Community Center and eight covered picnic shelters. A showcase and focal point of Wilson Park is the beautiful Sievek-Gardens area, a highlight of any visit to the park. The area was further enhanced several years ago with the addition of a large gazebo, which is the scene of many weddings and wedding pictures each year. New fountains have been and are continuing to be added to the garden area, the result of generous contributions by district residents. There are annually over 150 softball teams, 40 baseball teams and 30 basketball teams actively participating in league and tournament play. As part of the district's year-round recreation activities, there are lessons in gymnastics, dance, baton, youth basketball, tennis, swimming, softball and baseball. Additionally, there are the ever-popular Slimettes classes, and special bus trips of one day or three-day weekends. The 4th of July celebration and fireworks display draw thousands to the park each year. Many a young child gets his or her first school experience in the district's pre-school program. There is much which can still be enjoyed this summer. Senior citizens may swim for free, Mondays through Saturdays, from 10:30 a.m. to 11:30 a.m. New portable stairs have just been added which will make it much easier to get into and out of the pool.

Who cares about baseball's All-Star Game?

Random thoughts on baseball's mid-summer "classic." They didn't miss staying in Andujar too much Tuesday in Minneapolis.

In Major League Baseball's 50th All-Star Game, the National League continued its momentous stretch of dominance over the American League with a methodical 6-1 triumph.

LaMar Hoyt, Nolan Ryan, Fernando Valenzuela, Jeff Reardon and Rich Gossage limited the best of the junior circuit to five hits. For some reason, I don't think Andujar (from here on known as OTD for One Tough Dominican) was mentioned too much in the winners' dugout.

OTD was content to retire to his backyard barbecue for three days before beginning the grind toward the end of the season, which could be as early as Aug. 6.

I wonder what OTD thought when Hoyt, the rotund right-hander with the impeccable control, was named the game's Most Valuable Player. LaMar was handed the starting assignment when National League manager Dick Williams hedged for an instant a week ago Friday on naming the starter.

It will either be Hoyt or OTD, Williams proclaimed, as the two prepared to face each other at Busch Stadium. Hoyt won the game, with help from Gossage, 2-0.

Columnists' club

Dave Whaley

In that case it will be Hoyt. OTD proclaimed. OTD thought his credentials merited. He had the hall for the big game immediately.

"If I ain't startin', I ain't departin'." OTD said, though not in so many words.

Who cares? The All-Star Game is nice, but everybody will get the same benefits monetarily (pension money) from the event, no matter who shows up.

How about this for a starting lineup: Durrell Porter, c.; Harry Spilman, 1b.; Ron Oester, 2b.; Rafael Santana, 3b.; Joel Youngblood, 3b.; Doug Probst, c.; and Maldonado, (great name) and Lenny Dykstra, of course.

Never mind that they aren't all stars; you could still fill any ball park. Game. Wow! Personally, I don't know if I would go to the game if it was played in the lot next to my house.

What kind of a game can it be if a player like Dale Murphy is taken out after three innings? A better idea would be to take the game out of the league and then augment them with the best reserves. Guys like Jerry Royster, Tito Landrum, Davey Lopes and Rusty Staub could be there to do the things they do best.

The pitching staff would have one starter, some middle innings guys and the one stopper coming out of the bullpen.

Your best players would be playing most of the game, but the reserves would still be there to do a job. It would be more like a real game. There is nothing worse than watching a pitcher throw three perfect innings at the start, like Steve Stone did for the American League in 1980, and then be taken out.

Stone, the eventual Cy Young Award winner, probably would have won the game if allowed to continue. The American League lost, of course.

I know. The All-Star Game is supposed to be different. But it's not. The Americans get off to a good start and then the Nationals run over them in the last five innings. Every year. Except when Whitey Herzog is managing. Then he tells his best player, George Hendrick in 1983) to go home in the fifth inning and lets the other team win.

That's giving it the old college try. Whitey, if the college is Tulane or Boston College. Of course, blowing games is not usually part of Herzog's makeup.

Which brings us back to OTD. The Friday before the All-Star Game, he asked Herzog when he would be pitching again.

I guess Tuesday night in Minneapolis," the White Rat said.

"I'm not going to the All-Star Game," OTD announced.

Whitey smiled to himself. Here, he thought, is a chance for the American League to win again. Dick Williams would never think of that strategy of sending players home. So if our league's best pitcher doesn't go, maybe that will help.

"Fine," Whitey told OTD. "Then you will pitch Thursday in Los Angeles. Now, let's hear it for the good ol' American League. They'll win for sure now."

Here's hoping the Cardinals go on to win the pennant. Not because it would be great for fans, but to have another winner, which it would. But because Herzog could manage the National League All-Star team again and maybe think of new ways to blow it.

Maybe he can get Neil Allen to start for the Nationals.

Flag display was magnificent

To the Editor:

A belated response to the nearly 100 American flags that were on display on Madison Avenue in Granite City July 4th for several days: Magnificent!

The avenue was decked out in all the colors of our great country, a really beautiful view to behold.

Thanks are in order to the VFW, American Legion and DAV veterans' organizations that donated the funds for the purchase and to Fire Chief Joe Holder and the fine firemen who prepared the flags and placed them on display for our country's birthday.

Everyone appreciated seeing the many flags and had nothing but fine comments to add. Only one flag was lost out of an array of flags.

Perhaps by Veterans' Day, the 19th Street overpass may have American flags flying to add some color to the day. On patriotic days, it would be great to have it decked out with "Old Glory" for all to view.

Cheers to the veterans and firemen for their patriotism, in having Granite City show its colors in these troubled times. It was a job well done.

Police news can be viewed as public benefit

Police news, to some, is insufferable.

Many grumble it reflects darkly on the rosy facade of some otherwise cheery communities. Most don't like it when they've been arrested.

One woman called to warn us not to print the name of a member of her family, though the man had been charged with a criminal act.

She was worried about his reputation. She threatened a lawsuit.

The story was printed. In the

The media mandarin

categories of crime we report, we do so without regard for threats or the social status of the person involved.

The public is entitled to know those with whom they and their family members might associate.

Police reports should be fair. If we print the name of a person charged with a crime, and the man is later cleared, the family tells us and we inform the public, provided we can verify the man actually was cleared.

Police news can be positively viewed. In an ironic way, it reflects a community's honesty.

Some police departments are known for withholding news from the press and public, particularly if the information might embarrass a friend of a policeman or politician, or those persons themselves.

Papers with many police items, however, show police are working rather than spending half their shift at the local diner.

Also, such items inform the public of higher crime areas and trends. Not everyone likes police news, but only those with something to hide seem to gripe about it.

A.O. Smith sales increasing

Sales of A.O. Smith Corporation in the second quarter were 8 percent ahead of the same quarter last year and 9 percent ahead of the first quarter of 1985, officials announced Monday in Milwaukee. Earnings per share from continuing operations were down 2 percent from the same quarter last year and 39 percent ahead of the first quarter of 1985.

Earnings at the Automotive Products Company trailed the year-ago quarter because of an extraordinary amount of renewal activities involving a complete rebuilding of its Granite City plant and preparations and start-ups at Milwaukee and Granite City for new products.

AT GRANITE CITY, where there are no significant revenues as yet, plant reopening and start-up expenses were $3,631,000 and $7,373,000 in the second quarter and six months, respectively.

Product shipments at Granite City are expected to start in the third quarter. The Automotive Products Co. is the largest operation within A.O. Smith and it is one of the nation's largest suppliers of automotive structural products.

IT CURRENTLY is in the midst of preparation for the manufacture of frames for the new General Motors GMT-400 truck line to be introduced in 1987, engine cradles for the Ford Taurus and Mercury Sable passenger cars, and frames for two new Chrysler truck lines.

Thomas I. Dolan, chairman and chief executive officer, said he was particularly pleased with the "fine operating results for the Automotive Products Co. in the face of this unusual level of rebuilding and new product expenses."

"We consider these expenses to be excellent investments which will enhance future profitability," Dolan said.

DOLAN SAID A.O. Smith is about where it expected to be at this time of the year and he remains confident that earnings for the year as a whole will be as good as if not better than 1984.

Sales in the second quarter were $248,519,000 with earnings from continuing operations of $10,364,000, or $1.38 per share, compared with sales a year ago of $230,431,000 and earnings from continuing operations of $10,471,000, or $1.41 per share.

Net earnings in the quarter were $15,012,000, or $2.03, compared with net earnings in 1984 of $6,090,000 or 82 cents per share.

FOR SIX MONTHS, the company reported sales of $477,165,000 with earnings from continuing operations of $17,577,000, or $2.27 per share, compared with sales in the first half of 1984 of $477,000,000 and earnings of $21,374,000, or $2.51 per share.

Net earnings in the first half of 1985 amounted to $25,205,000, or $3.40 per share, compared with net earnings in the first half of last year of $13,893,000, or $1.87 per share.

The difference between net and continuing earnings involves recognition of tax credits related to the 1984 discontinuance of agricultural businesses.

FOR THE SECOND quarter compared with the year ago, the Automotive and Data Systems units of the company reported strong sales gains, the Water Products Company was flat and the two electric motor operations experienced modest sales declines.

Earnings in the quarter compared with 1984 were ahead at the Applied Electric Products Co. and the Water Products Co. and behind at the Automotive Products Co. because of its renewal programs.

Metals, an affiliate which manufactures structural products for the Mexican automotive market, reported a strong increase in earnings in the quarter compared with last year.

Smith plans sale of stock

A.O. Smith Corp. has filed a registration statement with the Securities and Exchange Commission for public sale of 1,200,000 shares of convertible exchangeable preferred stock.

The offering is expected to be made in late July through Shearson Lehman Brothers Inc. and Robert W. Baird & Co. Inc. The company will grant the underwriters an option to acquire an additional 180,000 shares to cover over-allotments.

The convertible exchangeable preferred stock is expected to be offered at $25 per share to the public and will be convertible into the class B common stock of the company.

The shares are exchangeable in whole at the option of the company on any dividend payment date on or after Aug. 15, 1987, for convertible subordinated debentures due in 2015.

The company's class B common stock is traded on the American Stock Exchange under the symbol SMCB. The company intends to apply for listing of the preferred shares on the American Stock Exchange.

A.O. Smith will use the net proceeds for repayment of indebtedness.

They are among 53 recently appointed officers graduating from the Department of Law Enforcement Academy in Springfield.

The class was the 74th since the Illinois State Police was organized in 1922. Class 74 received 16 weeks of classroom and field instruction prior to assignment to the field.

Courses of instruction presented at the Academy included criminal and traffic laws, accident investigation, physical training, self-defense, emergency first-aid and defensive driving.

Trooper Ropac graduated from high school in Granite City in 1979 and from St. Louis University in 1983.

Ropac resides in Granite City. He is the son of Jerome Ropac Sr. (deceased) and of Lillian Ropac of Granite City.

Trooper Narvaez attended Madison High School and Southern Illinois University at Edwardsville. She resides in Madison with her husband, Theodore, and her son, Shawn. She is the daughter of Marion Weidner (deceased). Her mother, Bernadine Weidner, resides in Madison.

Trooper Runyon is a graduate of Granite City High School North. He resides in Granite City with his wife, Connie.

He is the son of John and Betty Runyon, who reside in McCarty, Ark.

Four persons report auto damage

Four persons who parked their cars in the Concordia Lutheran Church lot at 23rd Street and Grand Avenue reported July 18 someone entered their cars and took items.

Joe Parente of 1510 23rd St. said a burglar pried open a door on his 1978 auto and took pots and pans, a case of glassware and Christmas decorations. T-tops and a latch on his car were damaged.

Paul Derossett of 3243 Maryville

Road said someone pried open the driver's side of the convertible top on his 1983 auto and took eight cassette tapes.

Luther Howland of 2216 Lincoln Ave. told authorities a thief entered his 1982 car and took a carton of cigarettes. Christy Hagnauer of 2604 Iowa St. said someone entered her 1979 auto and took and in-dash AM-FM cassette stereo radio.

GC police answer 2,189 complaints

Granite City police answered a total of 2,189 complaints during June.

Crimes reported included one case of criminal sexual abuse, one robbery, 35 assault cases, 29 burglaries, 17 auto burglaries, 96 larceny cases and six auto thefts. Of those 203 cases, 102 were cleared through arrests.

Auto accidents in June included 35 personal-injury accidents and 104 property-damage accidents. There were no fatal accidents in June.

There were 384 traffic arrests, 451 non-moving vehicle arrests and 181 other arrests last month.

Belson officer cited by police

Robert G. Koblin, 43, of St. Peters, Mo., vice president of the Belson Recycling firm, was charged with causing a city nuisance July 12 when Venice City and police personnel were called to the salvage business.

The company's property is located at the south end of Washington Avenue at Race Street.

Police officers alleged seven railroad boxcars were burning at the time and a large amount of smoke was drifting toward Venice and over Broadway.

Firefighters removed a lock on the front gate of the property to get inside. An officer went to the main office and located Koblin, who reported being unaware of how the fires started.

Koblin was released after posting $52 cash bail, pending a hearing.

Firemen used about 4,000 gallons of water in an effort to extinguish the burning cars. The firefighters remained at the scene about two hours.

A Venice police officer said the department has issued 39 citations concerning the firm, but said no court action has been taken on the complaints.

Previous citations were twice listed on court dockets, but continuances were granted on both occasions, he said.

The Illinois Environmental Protection Agency has asked Belson Recycling for April 29 incident in which a tanker-type railroad car, allegedly containing the residue of sulfur, was burning and caused noxious fumes to be expelled into the air.

The salvage firm also was cited by Venice police on that occasion.

Unlawful-assembly charge in Venice

Called to a disturbance and an apparent fight in the vicinity of two business firms in the 400 block of Broadway, Venice officers found about 75 people gathered at that location July 11.

Police advised the onlookers to move on, and a Belleville youth, 15, refused to leave the area. He then crossed the street and began running away when advised to come to a squad car. A foot pursuit occurred behind the Venice Post Office and an officer fired a shot in the air when the youth refused to stop.

The youth crashed through a plastic gate at St. Mark Catholic Church and was caught after passing the church. He was charged with unlawful assembly and criminal damage to property.

Meanwhile, two women who were fighting in the crowd were being separated by officers when a juvenile girl grabbed a Venice officer to keep him from holding onto a relative, reportedly one of the women fighting. The officer and girl lost their balance and fell to the ground.

Several others were involved in another fight which was broken up by police, and the large crowd moved across Broadway toward a grocery store.

Minutes later, the group reformed and again had to be dispersed from the Dairy Queen area.

In addition to the Belleville youth, two other juveniles and two men, Floyd Newman, 20, and Carl B. Evans, 26, both of East St. Louis, were arrested for unlawful assembly.

A woman allegedly yelled profanity at police and then confronted officers at the Venice police headquarters, where she accused an officer of hitting a relative.

The same woman allegedly voiced threats. Complaints are being prepared against her and her relative, an officer said.

GC MAN SERVED WARRANT

Ronald J. Grim, 62, of 1822 Spruce St. was halted by police July 18 on a warrant alleging driving with a suspended license. Arrested at Chestnut Street and Niedringhaus Avenue, he was released on $152 cash bail.

MOTORCYCLIST INJURED

John C. Hutson, 31, of Glen Carbon was injured July 18 when his motorcycle collided with a car. The auto of Billy N. Lewis, 57, of Columbia was moving north on Lincoln Avenue and Hutson was going west on E. 23rd Street.

When the vehicles hit, Hutson was thrown off his motorcycle, struck the windshield of Lewis' car, went over the hood and fell on the pavement.

Lewis was charged with failure to yield the right-of-way at an intersection. Hutson was taken by Granite City ambulance to St. Elizabeth Medical Center, where he was in stable condition Friday.

WOMAN ALLEGES BATTERY

Randy O. Barrett, 45, of 4807 Kirkpatrick Avenue was arrested by Granite City police July 17 for battery. Rebecca Click of 4705 Kirkpatrick alleged he pushed her to the ground and threatened to beat her.

Truck fire

CHECKING FOR HOT SPOTS. Madison volunteer firefighters inspect the gutted cab of a diesel truck destroyed by a fire Thursday night on the Kissick Truck Line parking lot at 1417 State St. Gerald Anderson, of Quincy, Ill., owner of the $40,000 tractor, said he returned from a local movie theater to find his truck destroyed by the fire, the origin of which is unknown. Firefighters responded at 9:35 and were on the scene for about 30 minutes. (Staff photo by Patrick Foley)

TRAFFIC CHARGES ARE FILED AFTER ACCIDENT

Thomas David Gibson, 20, of 1918 Edwardsville Road, Madison, was stopped July 18 by Granite City police at Delmar and Niedringhaus avenues and was released to Madison officers, who charged him with four traffic violations.

The charges stemmed from an alleged hit-and-run accident at 1:30 a.m. July 16 in which an auto belonging to Steve E. Shelby, 904 Alton Ave., Madison, was struck outside his home. A vehicle being sought was seen at a Granite City convenience store and the driver, Gibson, was stopped.

He was charged with failing to reduce speed to avoid an accident, failing to give information after striking an unattended vehicle, failing to report an accident to police authorities and leaving the scene of an accident.

Gibson was released after posting cash bail pending an Aug. 16 hearing.

$510 THEFT REPORTED

Dennis Meyers, an employee at Charlie's Restaurant, reported to police July 17 a man took $510 from him in November 1983 to buy tickets to a Frank Sinatra concert. The man never delivered the tickets.

CAB DRIVER CUT WITH KNIFE BY ASSAULT

A local taxicab driver was assaulted with a knife July 17 in his cab but escaped serious injury. Arlie Bunker, a driver for Checker Cab Co., picked up a fare in the parking lot at Charlie's Restaurant, 3120 Nameoki Road, and took him to the 2000 block of State Street.

When Bunker told the man the cost would be $2.25, the man told him the police department would take care of it. When Bunker said he knew it was not the police department's policy to do that, the man pulled a fixed-blade knife from his boot.

He took a slash at Bunker, who blocked it with a flashlight. Bunker got a small laceration on his right hand. The man was last seen going into the Arch House, 2029 State St.

WARRANT IS SERVED HERE

Lawrence Allen, 29, of 1714 Cleveland Blvd., was arrested by Granite City police July 18 on a felony warrant alleging deceptive practice.

PROWLING CHARGE FILED

John F. Mulnik, 24, of 626 Lincoln Ave., Venice, was arrested by Granite City police July 13 and charged with prowling in the 2500 block of Lynch Avenue.

MAY ALLEGES NOSE BROKEN

Charles E. Booker, 25, of 1809 Ferguson Ave. was arrested July 14 after he allegedly hit another man. Th. Callender, 2337 Terminal Ave., alleged Booker hit him with a baseball bat, breaking his nose. Booker was arrested at 2330 Madison Ave.

DUI CHARGE FILED HERE

Charles E. Taylor, 60, of 2815 Edwards St. was charged July 13 with driving while under the influence of alcohol. He was arrested in the 2200 block of Edwards.

Schooley cites suit, $690,000 award by jury

In a case originally filed in St. Clair County, Ill., a Knoxville, Tenn., jury awarded Joe Derrick $690,000. Derrick, 44, of Olawah, Tenn., received a back injury on a defective turntable while working as a switchman for the L & N Railroad.

Derrick was represented at the trial by Granite City Attorney William W. Schooley.

Schooley had originally filed the case in Belleville but it was transferred to the Federal Court in Knoxville at the request of the railroad.

Schooley commented, "Maybe this will help lay to rest the practice of singling out Madison and St. Clair counties as high-verdict areas. Good cases get good verdicts," he asserted.

'Jesus Christ Superstar' to be at Muny

'Jesus Christ Superstar,' the first musical written by Andrew Lloyd Webber and Tim Rice, will be presented by The Muny during the week of July 22-28. Curtain time at the outdoor theater in Forest Park is 8:15 nightly.

Anthony Geary of television's "General Hospital" will star in this production. Others in the cast include Carl Anderson as Judas Iscariot, Barry Dennen as Pontius Pilate, Linda Nichols as Mary Magdalene, Lyle Kanouse as King Herod and P.L. Brown as Caiaphas. Also included in the show during its St. Louis run will be an area choral group, the Youth Sing Praise Chorus from the National Shrine of Our Lady of the Snows in Belleville. It will be added to the cast and featured as a choir within the show.

'Jesus Christ Superstar' is a fast-moving rock musical of the early 1970s. It tells the story of the passion of Christ from the time of His arrival in Jerusalem to His crucifixion. The Webber and Rice score contains the hit songs "I Don't Know How to Love Him," "Everything's All Right" and the title song.

Besides 'Jesus Christ Superstar,' Webber and Rice have written such other hits as "Joseph and the Amazing Technicolor Dreamcoat" and "Evita." With Webber also writing the music for the current Broadway smash, "Cats."

Geary, in the lead role of Jesus of Nazareth, will be repeating the role he was seen in at the Sacramento Light Opera last summer. Geary is known for his creation of the rogue Luke Spencer on the serial "General Hospital," for which he also received an Emmy Award. He has been seen recently in the television movies "The Impostor," "Sins of the Past," "Intimate Agony" and "Kicks."

Anderson has been seen in the role of Judas in the Broadway, national and film productions of "Jesus Christ Superstar." His film performance earned him two Golden Globe Award nominations and a gold record for the film's soundtrack album. An active recording artist, his album releases have been "Absence Without Love," "On and On" and "Protocol."

Dennen is another veteran of this show, having created the role of Pontius Pilate in the original recording of "Jesus Christ Superstar" in the original Broadway production and in the film version. He has been seen in the films "Fiddler on the Roof," "Kentucky Fried Movie," "Superman III," "Trading Places" and "The Shining."

Nichols understudied the role of Mary Magdalene in the first national tour of the show and went on to replace Yvonne Elliman in the part. Her previous stage roles have included Blanche in "A Streetcar Named Desire," Essie in "You Can't Take It With You" and Desdemona in "Othello." On television she has appeared on "The Young and the Restless," "Tough as Nails" and "Blind Date."

Kanouse is recreating the role of King Herod from last summer's run of "Jesus Christ Superstar" in Sacramento with Geary. He was recently seen in "Lovers Leap" in Las Vegas, "As You Like It" in Dallas and "Oklahoma" in Fort Worth and San Bernardino, and in national tours of "South Pacific" and "1776."

Brown, who will play Caiaphas, has appeared on Broadway and toured nationally as Joe in "Show Boat" with Donald O'Connor, and as Ed in "It's So Nice to Have a Civilized Man in the House." He has been featured in numerous soap operas and movies and will be seen next as the prince in the future release of "Grandma's Gold."

The Youth Sing Praise Chorus is comprised of 30 students, mostly from the St. Louis and Belleville areas. The annual highlight of the group's year is the June presentation at the shrine of a new liturgical work commissioned especially for them. The Rev. Ronald E. Brassard is the musical director of the group.

now in its fourth year.

Ticket prices for "Jesus Christ Superstar" are $19.50, $17.50, $15.50, $11.50 and $4.50. They are available at The Muny box office in Forest Park and at these branch locations: Ticketmaster outlets at all Famous Barr stores, all Dillard's stores, Team Toys and Tickets in Northwest Plaza and Chesterfield and Regal

Dance St. Louis ticket sales up

Season ticket sales for Dance St. Louis are "booming" in record heights this year. Residents of St. Louis and surrounding communities have expressed their enthusiasm for dance by purchasing more than 1,000 season subscriptions before the start of the 1985-86 season - a nearly 400 percent increase over sales this time last year, according to Adam Pinks, executive director.

In its 20th anniversary season, Dance St. Louis is celebrating its new popularity by bringing a wide range of international performers to the city.

Valet parking is a new feature this year for those attending Dance St. Louis events. Ramps for handicapped patrons are another new addition provided as a result of recent remodeling of Kiel.

The season kicks off with the July 24 performance of virtuoso Baryshnikov and stars of the American Ballet Theater. Other performances are scheduled through April 1986.

The next event following Baryshnikov will be Aterballetto, Italy's new classical company, on Oct. 18 and 19. The remaining season will feature American Dancemachine on Nov. 29 and 30, Alvin Ailey's American Dance Theater on Feb. 14 and 15, along with the Kansas City Ballet on March 7 and 8.

A special holiday performance of "The Nutcracker Suite" by the Kansas City Ballet is planned Dec. 28 through 31, with a discount on tickets being offered to season subscribers.

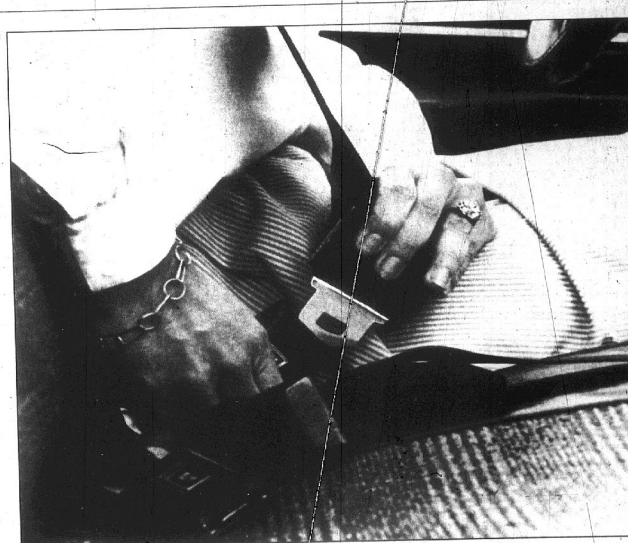

In addition, Dance St. Louis offers a range of performances through the Movable Feast at various locations throughout the city. For complete information on the 1985-86 season and ticket sales, interested persons may contact the Dance St. Louis box office at 1-314-968-3770 from 10 a.m. to 4 p.m. Mondays through Fridays. Tickets are also available through all Ticketmaster locations, including Dillard's and Famous Barr.

Wearing seatbelts. It has always been a good idea. But now, in Illinois, as well as several other states, it's the law. Think of these enlightening statistics: in Illinois this year the new law is expected to save 500 lives and 54,000 injuries. So take the extra three seconds needed to buckle up. Use Seatbelts. They're something you can live with.

Social Notes

By SUSANNE INDELICATO
Staff writer

PRESIDENT RONALD Reagan has again declared August as Polish American Heritage Month. The first such observance was the subject of a declaration last year.

The Polish American Congress, umbrella organization of all Polish societies in the U.S., has lobbied for the nationwide observance, which not only celebrates the traditions of the old country, but heightens public awareness of 350 years of contributions to society made by Americans of Polish descent.

Americans of Polish descent in metropolitan St. Louis and southern Illinois will mark the event during a special, celebratory mass at 4 p.m. Sunday, Aug. 4, at the historic St. Stanislaus Kostka Church, 1413 N. 20th St., St. Louis. A procession will be held before the liturgy at 3:30 p.m.

A dinner and program will follow at Tom's Jon's Restaurant, 2800 Olive St., St. Louis. Helen Szymonowicz, Polish American Congress national vice president from Chicago, will be the featured guest speaker after dinner.

RICHARD HARMON, chairman of the missions committee, is inviting each pastor and church member to a missions picnic from 11 a.m. to 4 p.m. Saturday, Aug. 24, at the Baptist Center in Mitchell. Helen and Keith Stanford, former pastor and director of missions, will be guests. Jonah Reynolds, area missionary, will be the speaker.

In charge of the event are Harmon, recreation (Calvary, Edwardsville); Bill Mullis, facilities (Emmanuel); Jeff Davis (Calvary, Granite City); and Bob Peterson (Third), cooks; and Debbie Hell, enlistment and publicity (Third).

Each family is asked to bring a picnic supper to include uncooked hamburger patties. The Madison County Baptist Association will provide the beverage. There will be recreation time from 11 a.m. to 1 p.m., a meal at 1 p.m. and mission emphasis from 2 to 4 p.m.

SON-LIFE Singles are planning a float trip on the Meramec River Aug. 17. A $12 fee for canoe rental and transportation is needed before July 20. Interested persons may call Jerry Smith for information at 452-5326. Any single adult is invited. The group will meet at Son-Life at 6:45 a.m. that Saturday with food for a plenic, change of clothes and tennis shoes.

Son-Life Singles also are having Spiritual Growth days July 26 and Aug. 2 and 30 in the teachers' lounge at the school at 7 p.m. Testimonies, book reviews and in-depth teaching aimed at the single life are some of the plans. Fellowship and prayer also are planned.

MR. AND MRS. David C. Rosenberg of Granite City are announcing the birth of their third child, a girl, born July 9 at Memorial Hospital in Belleville.

The new arrival was named Desiree Camille and she weighed 6 pounds, 8 ounces. She has a 3½-year-old brother, Dustin, and a 2-year-old sister, Deirdre. The mother will be remembered as the former Melia Wofford.

PEACH COCONUT PIE

Dishes that hint of A tropical island paradise

Talk about peachy planning. Fresh peaches are in local markets and this recipe for Peach Coconut Pie fits perfectly into dessert party plans.

Vacations are a good reason to assemble friends. Set a date that coincides with someone's vacation and make it a surprise.

An island theme is a cooling thought, whether the vacationers are bound for ports o' call or will be tubing in the Ozarks. This light, refreshing pie ties it all in because it has fresh fruit and even a garnish of toasted coconut.

Fortunately, frozen whipped topping is stashed in the freezer. Of course, it is dreamy as a topping, but this pie called for thawed frozen whipped topping as a main ingredient. The topping, combined with almond extract, is blended in to prepared, thickened peach gelatin. Finally, chopped fresh peaches and toasted flaked coconut are folded into the mixture before it is chilled in a crumb crust. A garnish of additional fresh peaches and toasted flaked coconut dresses up the pie.

Avocado Lime Pie is another quick-set pie that calls for thawed frozen whipped topping. An electric blender helps in part of the preparation.

Peach Coconut Pie

1 pkg. (3 oz.) peach gelatin
2/3 cup boiling water
2 cups ice cubes
1 tsp. almond extract
1 container (8 oz.) frozen whipped topping, thawed
1 cup coarsely chopped peeled fresh peaches

2/3 cup flaked coconut, toasted
1 baked 9-inch graham cracker crumb crust, cooled
Dissolve gelatin completely in boiling water, stirring 3 minutes. Add ice cubes and stir constantly until gelatin is thickened, about 2 to 3 minutes. Remove any unmelted ice.

Blend extract into whipped topping in container. Using wire whip, blend whipped topping into gelatin; then whip until smooth.

Fold in peaches and 1/2 cup of the coconut.

Chill, if necessary, until mixture will mound. Spoon into pie crust. Chill 2 hours.

Garnish with remaining coconut and additional peach slices, if desired.

Avocado Lime Pie

1 can (8 1/2 oz.) crushed pineapple in syrup
2 tbsp. lemon or lime juice
1 pkg. (3 oz.) lime gelatin
1 tsp. salt
1 cup boiling water
1 ripe medium avocado, peeled and halved
1 pkg. (3 oz.) cream cheese, softened
1 cup frozen whipped topping, thawed

1 baked 9-inch graham cracker crumb crust, cooled
Drain pineapple, reserving syrup. Add lemon juice to syrup; then add water to make 1/2 cup.

Dissolve gelatin and salt in boiling water. Add measured liquid. Chill until slightly thickened.

Meanwhile, dice half the avocado. Place remaining avocado, blender container and blend until smooth.

Fold cheese mixture, diced avocado, pineapple and whipped topping into the thickened gelatin. Spoon into crust. Chill until firm, at least 3 hours.

Garnish with additional whipped topping and thin lime slices, if desired.

Short treats from around the kitchen

Texas Sauce

1 cup ketchup
1 tbs. Worcestershire sauce
2 or 3 dashes pepper sauce
1 cup water
1/4 cup vinegar
1 tbs. sugar
1 tsp. salt
1 tsp. celery seed
1 lb. pork spareribs
1 lemon, thinly sliced
1 large onion, thinly sliced
Combine ketchup, Worcestershire, pepper sauce, water, vinegar, sugar, salt and celery seed. Simmer 30 minutes.

Salt ribs and place on rack over slow coals; put barbecue lid or hood down. Cook, covered, 1 hour.

Brush ribs with sauce; peg on slices of onion and lemon with toothpicks. Continue to cook ribs 30 to 40 minutes or until done, brushing often with sauce.

If smoky flavor is desired, toss damp hickory chips on coals during last half hour.

Snip ribs in servings with scissors. To test ribs for well done, snip between the rib bones. If there is no pink and if meat can be pulled away easily from the bones, it is ready for serving.

Yields 4 servings.

Beef Strip Broil

Let charcoal burn until covered with light gray ash before placing steaks on the grill. If a grill thermometer is used, it should register about 350° for the cooking period.

To prevent sticking, rub grill with piece of suet trimmed from the edge of the steak. Place steaks on grill; cook 8 to 10 minutes. Turn with tongs. Season with salt and pepper. Broil second side 8 to 10 minutes or until browned.

Total cooking time for a 1-inch thick strip steak is 15 minutes for rare, 20 minutes for medium. If steak is 1 1/2 inches thick, broil about 25 minutes for rare and 30 minutes for medium.

If broiling is done inside, set oven regulator for broiling, place the strip steaks on rack in broiling pan and insert in oven so top surface of 1-inch thick steak is 2 to 3 inches from heat; a 2-inch steak, 3 to 5 inches from heat.

Melon Delight

1 cup melon balls
1/2 cup strawberries
1/4 cup grapes
1/4 cup shredded coconut
2 tbs. blue cheese dressing
Combine melon, strawberries, grapes and coconut. Mix lightly and chill.

Chill dressing in a separate container. Add to fruit at serving time.

Yield 2 cups; 88 calories and 89 mg. of sodium per 1/2 cup serving.

Berry Sundaes

Berry-Berry Sundaes has an all-American look. To serve it, spoon strawberries and blueberries onto vanilla ice cream.

Children of any age will love Chocolate Peanut Butter Sundaes. Top chocolate ice cream with softened crunchy peanut butter and extra peanuts.

The refrigerator has the ingredients for the old favorite, Tur-ty Sundaes. Just top vanilla ice cream with caramel and hot fudge sauces and add a few pecans.

Easy Party Dip

1 (5-oz.) jar neufchatel cheese spread with pimiento
1 (5-oz.) jar sharp cheese spread
3 tbs. milk
1 tsp. chives
Combine cheese spreads with milk and chives. Chill.
Serve with vegetable dippers. Makes 1 1/2 cups.

Melon Cooler

In pitcher combine 2 cups chilled unsweetened orange juice, 1/2 cup lemon juice and 1/2 cup sugar. Stir until sugar dissolves.

Stir in 2 cups fresh or frozen melon balls, 1 cup vodka, if desired, and 2 (12-ounce) cans lemon-lime carbonated beverage, chilled.

Serve over ice. Makes about 2 quarts.

Tomato Drink

Combine three cups tomato juice, one cup dill pickle liquid, one tablespoon lemon juice and 1/4 teaspoon pepper. Chill.
Stir before pouring into glasses. Serve garnished with dill pickle slices, if desired. Makes 8 servings.

Brandy Burgers

There will be a place in the hamburger hall of fame for classic brandied hamburgers.

Just add 3 tablespoons brandy per pound of ground beef. Grill or broil to sizzling, juicy perfection.

Chicken Sauce

1/2 cup white wine
1/4 cup oil
1/2 tsp. salt
1/2 tsp. pepper
1/2 tsp. celery salt
3/4 tsp. thyme
1/4 tsp. marjoram
1/4 tsp. rosemary
1 onion, grated
1 garlic clove, diced
Mix wine, oil, salt, pepper, celery, salt, thyme, marjoram, rosemary, onion and garlic. Chill several hours.

Pour sauce over chicken; chill 2 to 4 hours.

When grilling chicken brush sauce over chicken occasionally.

Fruit Ambrosia

1/2 cup Russian or spicy French dressing
1 cup (8 oz.) plain lowfat yogurt
1/4 cup flaked coconut
1/2 cup chopped almonds or walnuts

Fresh Fruits

In medium bowl, blend Russian dressing with yogurt; stir in coconut and almonds.

Add fresh fruits and toss well.

Makes about 6 servings.

Serve in chilled wine glasses for dessert or arrange on lettuce-lined plates for salad.

Suggested Fresh Fruits—Use any combination of the following to equal 6 cups; sliced bananas, nectarines, peaches or strawberries; chopped melon, oranges or pears; blueberries.

Hawaiian Fruit

Hawaiian-grown pineapple is always harvested ripe and ready to eat. Since pineapple won't ripen further (get any sweeter) once it is picked, it should be stored in the refrigerator until ready to use.

A half cup of fresh pineapple contains only about 50 calories and provides 32 percent of the minimum daily requirement of Vitamin C. It is also an excellent source of fiber and, of course, has no cholesterol.

Sweet Shortcake

Halve and pit 2 cups fresh sweet cherries; sweeten with 2 teaspoons sugar. Spoon into 4 individual shortcakes (homemade, from a mix or purchased).

Top each serving with almond-flavored, sweetened whipped cream and a whole cherry.

Makes 4 servings.

Burger Topping

For guacamole topping, mash one large ripe avocado (about 3/4 cup). Stir in 1 1/2 teaspoons lemon juice, 1 1/2 teaspoons grated onion, 1/4 teaspoon salt and 6 drops hot pepper sauce.

Spoon onto beefburgers and top with peeled tomato pieces.

Soccer teams, Martin score early for Region 8

JOE THOMPSON
Staff writer

With 12 goals in victories in its first two matches, the Southern Region women's scholastic soccer team is headed full steam toward a second gold medal at the Prairie State Games this weekend at Champaign.

Whatever success the black arm-banded girls achieve, the assist will go to the late Willi Seim.

The soccer team's latest conquest was a 4-2 victory Friday over the Blackhawks of Region 5. This followed a 6-1 drubbing of Blue Gray of Region 6 on Thursday. The two victories set up a key match Saturday, when they were to play Pioneer of Region 8, likely to be their biggest roadblock to another gold medal finish.

Said Norm Seim, coach of Southern Region which represents athletes from this part of the state, "Saturday's game will tell the tale."

If the going gets tough, as it is expected, the girls can dig down deep. They can look at the black arm bands they placed on the sleeves of their jerseys. That won't be necessary, though. Willi Seim, whom the arm bands are dedicated to, is not far from their thoughts or their hearts this weekend.

He coached them last year when they blazed their way to a gold medal, outscoring their opponents 39-4. Willi died six months ago from the effects of a stroke he suffered shortly after last year's Games were completed. The man who was considered one of the leading forces behind the development of soccer in the Metro East area was 59 when he died.

"He meant something to us," said Southern Region's Mary Furfaro, "we just want to win it for him."

Furfaro led the way Thursday with four goals. She led the way again Friday by scoring four more goals. She is on a best friend basis with kicking the ball past opposing keepers. The senior-to-be at Collinsville High this fall tallied seven goals in a match at last season's Games.

"Yeah," she says, when asked if she thinks of her coach of last year. "Every minute."

The idea to wear black arm bands in memory of Willi Seim was that of Collinsville's Laurie Kolling and Mary Pat Leach. The idea received full endorsement from the rest of the squad, which includes several girls from Granite City.

It was with the black arm bands firmly in place the girls boarded the bus to prepare for their first match. That's the first time Norm Seim saw them. Norm, 32, is Willi's son. He helped his father coach the team last year.

"What's the deal with the arm bands?" he asked the girls.

In the happy chatter that followed Southern Region's victory Friday, Norm Seim talked long distance about what the arm bands meant to him and his family.

"I was touched. I really was."

Norm said. "It was really nice. For a lot of the girls, last year was the first time they met him (Willi). They really took to him. He meant a lot to them. I was impressed."

"My mother (Hedi) came up today," Norm said. "When she saw the arm bands, she broke down...these girls are the nicest bunch of kids."

Headed for another gold medal, too. "Do it all over again," Norm was saying. "One more time for memory's sake."

For all the good things his father meant.

For the record, the women's scholastic team is not the only Southern Region squad kicking furiously toward the gold.

The men's scholastic team also made it through its first two matches unbeaten, defeating the Blackhawks of Region 5 Friday, 3-1. Scoring goals were Doug Smith, Chris Told and Granite City's Todd Adamitis.

Adamitis, who will be a junior at Granite City High this fall, also figured prominently in the squad's 7-0 victory over Blue-Gray of Region 6 Thursday.

Adamitis tallied two goals. Tom Stone of Alton collected two. The big scorer was Collinsville's Tony Ellis with three goals.

*****

The women's open team, coached by Granite City's Ruben Mendoza, had a field day Friday, blistering Wilco of Region 4, 9-0. Terry Schuler of Granite City powered three goals. The big victory came on the heels of a 6-0 pasting of Windy City of Chicago on Thursday. Granite City's Chris Kessler led the way with three goals. Schuler and Granite City's Patricia Atkinson also collected goals.

The men's scholastic and women's open teams hope to duplicate Gold medal performances last season.

Southern Region's men's open soccer team finally boarded the victory express Friday, after a slight derailment Thursday. The team blasted Wilco Friday, 4-1, after playing to a 1-1 tie with Windy City Thursday.

James Kelahan of Granite City and James Applebaum each scored a goal, while Rich Reiniger of Belleville tallied two goals in Friday's victory.

John Gates scored the lone goal Thursday for Southern Region, looking to win a medal after placing fourth at last year's Games.

*****

THE FIRST, first: Patti Martin of Granite City already has her gold medal. She swam to first place Thursday in the 100 meter butterfly with a mark of 1:08.32. The gold medal was the first for the Southern Region.

Martin placed fifth Friday in the 100 meter backstroke with a time of 1:14.91.

Teammate Kelly Reed of Granite City finished eighth in the 50 meter and 400 meter freestyle events Friday with respective times of :30.29 and 5:21.67.

The two girls helped Southern Region to a seventh place finish in the 400 meter relay Thursday. The time was 5:57.

*****

A MEDAL from the wrestling world: Tom Sparks of Granite City reportedly has won a bronze medal in the Greco-Roman competition. Sparks was entered in the 154-pound weight class. The Games' media center did not have final results of the Greco-Roman competition Friday evening, but Sparks' third-place finish was verified by persons who attended the final round play.

Sparks reportedly, however, was eliminated from the freestyle competition.

*****

TOUGH START: Chances for the Southern Region's men's scholastic team obtaining a medal in basketball appeared dim Friday. The team, coached by Collinsville High's new head basketball coach, Bobby Bone, suffered its second consecutive loss, 85-82, to Wilco.

The team lost 89-78 to Windy City earlier. The two setbacks followed a point-happy 109-96 triumph Thursday over West Central.

Davis seeks a gold medal

Joyce Davis of Granite City is certain of one thing as her 14-year-old son, Brent, competes for a wrestling medal at the Prairie State Games this weekend in Champaign. He has enough clothes to wear.

"Thank goodness," says Joyce. Another thing looks almost certain. Joyce's son appears to have an outstanding shot at a medal in the 98-pound weight class, after winning 15-10 in first round action Friday in the freestyle division and being awarded a bye in the second round. A victory Saturday would have sent him into semifinals.

His opponent in the third round was handily defeated earlier by Brent's first round victim.

"If he wrestles halfway decent, he should go into the semifinals," said Brent's father, Glenn, late Friday night.

Brent is a wrestling prodigy. As a seventh-grader, he made the varsity at Grigsby Junior High. As an eighth-grader last fall, he captured third place in the state junior high school playoffs. The wrestler who defeated him was nearly a year older, and went on to win the state title.

Brent's fine early round play in the freestyle competition over shadows a less than smooth beginning.

He arrived to his dormitory room minus his clothes and wrestling shoes. He apparently had left the gear on one of the five buses which carried him and other Southern Region athletes to Champaign.

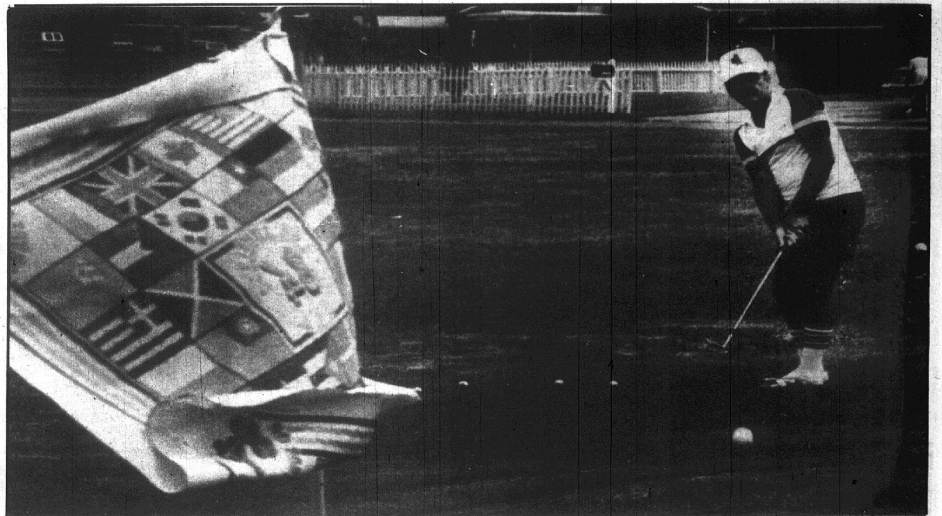

The lost shoes and clothes would be enough to distract a grizzled veteran let alone someone who apparently is one of

Papa swings with 'home-made' course

By GREGG OCHOA
Staff writer

GRANITE CITY — Joe Papa like his golf. It's relaxing and good therapy. He admits he's not ready for the PGA Tour, but then how many Weekend Warriors are?

"I'm a duffer golfer," Papa said. "I play once a week and have fun at it."

But Papa's game has gradually improved after he built his own golf course. That's right his OWN three hole course, complete with greens and the works.

Papa of Granite City has been benefiting from the use of the "course" for more than a year after he and his son, Joe, Jr., decided to construct the greens.

"I've had it since last spring," Papa said. "I needed something to occupy my time after I went in the hospital."

Papa started with a single green with two holes in his back yard. "I have Bermuda (grass) in the yard and that's a pretty good base for a green. You can trim it real short and in the summer time it can stand the heat."

The other two greens are spaced out on a plot of land 350-foot wide by 125-feet deep located on the side of his house.

"I guess the longest hole is maybe 100 yards," Papa said. "We keep the grass trimmed and you can tell where the greens are."

"It takes some work. We try and cut the greens three times a week," said Papa who works in the finance department at Olin Corporation in Wood River.

For the green's in the field watering is somewhat of a problem, but Papa doesn't let it bother him.

"I think the green in my back yard is in pretty good shape," Papa boasts. "It may not be professional but it's real good to practice putting."

Papa said he generally leaves as many as 15 to 20 balls on the green so friends can use the course at any time.

"I play golf with some guys usually on Tuesdays and sometimes I beg them for balls," Papa said.

"Everybody's pretty good about it. They don't steal any balls."

Papa uses the course whenever he can. "Sometimes I'll chip some balls to the green before I go to work."

Obviously the course is not designed for driving, but it has helped shave some strokes off Papa's game.

Papa admitted to shooting in the mid-50s for nine holes. "I just never seemed to be able to break 50," he said.

But practice tends to change things. "I recently shot a 43 at the Depot course," Papa said. "I cut it down pretty good."

The tact of land which two of the holes rest was vacant for several years before Papa decided to put it to use.

"That's a story in itself," he said.

The owner of the land originally wanted to build commercial property on the grounds, but residents of the surrounding neighborhood banned together to block the plans.

Ever since, Papa said, the land had been left unattended.

"About five or six years ago we started cutting the grass. One year we decided not to, but the grass kept getting taller."

Papa contacted county officials who said it was the landowners' responsibility, but still nothing was done.

The grass kept getting higher and higher and Papa was concerned that the area was fast becoming a breeding spot for mosquitoes.

"I just cut it and have taken it on," Papa said.

Papa said he will continue to get the grass mowed.

"Since I cut it I'm going to take advantage of it until somebody tells me I can't," he said.

He adds that the course has even helped bring in family closer together.

"My youngest daughter even wants to learn more about the game. And my son, he's a natural."

All-Star game wasn't for highlight flim

In a few short words, the 56th annual Major League baseball all star game was boring. It was about two-and-a-half hours of wasted prime time television space.

It really didn't seem to matter that the National League won again, the 13th time in the last 14 outings the same feat was accomplished.

Perhaps, the biggest news surrounding the game was the Aug. 6 strike date set by the Major League Players Association.

The American League, however, looked as though it were on strike Tuesday night.

I, for one, was disappointed. The game was billed as a "Homerdero" could hold all those National League fastballs.

Not a single homerun appeared and the NL hurlers sneezed at the AL with hardly a whimper. It wasn't too exciting. Even Lou Whitaker's make-shift "Tigers uniform hardly created a stir.

If anything the Metrodome prevented the game from being exciting. The spongy turf robbed the Cardinals' Willie McGee of a triple and, possibly a chance at an inside-the-park homerun. It quickly turned routine singles into doubles.

But then what do you expect from a fiberglass-topped stadium with its leftfield fence extended by plexiglass. It looked more like a hockey rink.

Sports Comment

Gregg Ochoa

To illustrate just how dull the game was, no one player really stood out. Starting NL pitcher LaMarr Hoyt of San Diego was named the game's MVP, but it easily could have gone to several other players.

The Padres Steve Garvey, the starting first baseman, was a candidate. He drove in Tom Herr with the game-winning RBI. Ozzie Virgil of the Phillies and McGee each had 2 RBIs.

Virgil, however, tainted his credentials with an ill-advised run to second. He was gunned down.

McGee has a strike against him because he is from St. Louis. (Do they really play baseball in the Midwest?)

From this corner, the game's most dominant player appeared to be Nolan Ryan of Houston. He put on a display of power pitching that Dwight Gooden could take notes from.

He brushed back the Yankees Rickey Henderson and Dave Winfield then came back and got them out. Ryan, who surpassed the 4,000 strikeout mark, pitched three scoreless innings.

If I could vote, Ryan was the game's MVP.

But wasn't it ironic that Hoyt got the award. He was named the starter after the Cardinals' Joaquin Andujar was a no-show.

"Joaquin spells his name W-A-L-K-I-N-G," quipped NBC broadcaster Vin Scully.

Andujar made a mistake. He should have attended. He acted like a spoiled kid. But it doesn't matter now. The only ones hurt were the fans. Andujar and the Cardinals organization ended up with egg on their face.

Scully's sidekick Joe Garagiola was his witty self. His comments added much-needed spice. Some samples:

—On the Padres pitcher Goose Gossage: "You don't need any signals with him. Just drop one finger and break in a new groove."

—On the red, white, and blue bases on the Metrodome field: "It's almost un-American to slide into them. You should take off your hat or something."

—On Ryan's brush back pitch: "It takes a lot of courage to stand up there against a guy throwing that hard. After a pitch that close, your brain has a meeting with your body and says we can't do this together."

—On Ozzie Smith: "He's one of the few players I know who makes a bad hop look good."

—On Pittsburgh's Tony Pena: "For you young kids who want to be a catcher, take a look at Pena's stance and then forget it."

—On Pena again: "He wears so much jewelry, he's the Sammy Davis Jr. of baseball."

Those ditties flowing from Joe's mouth all but saved a disaster. Even a phone survey on the designated hitter controversy wasn't enough to hold interest.

I stay tuned just to see how many people actually shelled out 50 cents to call the number. A lot of people did. Fifty-nine percent of the callers were against the DH run.

Another survey, of aging ballplayers, favored the rule by a unanimous vote.

My own personal survey conducted during the All-Star game showed the American League has the more colorful uniforms. From Baltimore's funny looking bird to the one perched on the Blue Jays' hats, it's mixed bag. And, then there are the White Sox uniforms.

And, I have to admit the Astros' shirts look like a television test pattern.

But, the game went on. All-Star games are fun with most of the proceeds put back into the player's pension fund. And with the upcoming strike, it may have been the last time we see players from both leagues on the same field for baseball game this year. I hope not, but things don't look too good.

Was there anything good about the All-Star game? Yes. It didn't go into extra innings and Howard Cosell wasn't behind the television microphone.

Q: Our two sons, ages 8 and 9, are all set to burst forth upon the world of high finance this summer through their own lawn cutting service. We feel we should begin to give them some guidance concerning the money they will hopefully make. Have you any suggestions along this line?

A: Your sons are not too young to be introduced to the services a bank can offer. Regular savings, even on a very small basis, will prepare your sons for future responsibility by instilling the good habit of regular savings. Youngsters should have the freedom of controlling their own passbook, making regular deposits and withdrawals. Later, they might be encouraged to open a checking account to assist them in the understanding of basic banking practices like writing checks, making deposits and balancing a checkbook. Their first account should probably be a joint one with you. We will be delighted to assist with all the necessary preparations for your sons' first account.

finals last March, helped ignite Southern Region. Banks popped in 63 points in the three games.

JOINT EFFORT: The success of the Southern Region's men and women's scholastic soccer teams only points out what good things can happen when rivals lay down their grudges and join each other arm-in-arm.

The core for both teams are athletes from Collinsville and Granite City. Sparring rivals in high school, they have joined forces for a common goal. It's colored Gold.

While Collinsville players Mary Furlaro, Diane Kassing, Mary Pat Leach, Laura Goodman, Laurie Kolling and Laura Goodman have helped the effort offensively with goals, the girls from Granite City have provided the other ingredient necessary to success.

The defensive skills of fullbacks Maria Parra, Dawn Schwartz, Julie Madios, goalkeeper Dianne Takmanian, and the midfield play of Angie Moore all from Granite City — was likely to dominate the spotlight in Saturday's key match against Pioneer.

SOLID GOLD. Granite City's Patti Martin won the Southern Region's first gold medal at the second annual

Getting 'hands on' racing experience at SLIR school

FAIRMOUNT CITY — Al Broman makes it plain.

"This is not the Sears driving school," he says. Neither is it Dodge 'em Cars or valet parking.

It's the St. Louis International Motors Sports School. And it's enough to make any prisoner of rush hour traffic sprout horns, a tail and a mischievous grin.

"What we're selling is a chance to race an actual race car," says Broman, marketing manager at the St. Louis International Raceway. "Some people who sign up plan to earn their competitive racing license. And some people are interested just for the thrill of it."

For $1,250, a student buys three days of instruction from race veterans Scott Livingston, Sam Kirby and Terry McKenna complete with use of the school's Volkswagen Golfs and Sports Renaults.

"You can't turn someone into a driving maven in three days," Livingston, the school administrator, says. "But we anticipate that the majority of people don't intend to go on to race. That's why we call it a motor sports school rather than a racing school. People will learn about driving conditions, vehicle dynamics and analyzing the corners on a race track, all of which apply to the street."

Classes are limited to 15 students. The only prerequisite is that students have a driver's license. So far, pupils have responded from as far as Dallas, Omaha, Neb., and Chicago.

"We're getting more people in their 30's and 40's than 18- and 20-year-olds," Livingston says. "That's not unusual. Although racing requires obvious athletic skills, like quick reflexes, it also requires things like good eyesight which aren't too much affected until you're a good deal older. Racing also requires a good deal of judgement that seems to accumulate as you get older."

Safety is a priority at the school. Passing on the track is prohibited and racing among students is not allowed. If a student crashes a car he is liable for a maximum of $2,500 per accident.

"You have to be able to drive a car before you race a car, so we start by going over the basics of handling a vehicle," Livingston says.

Golfs will be used for basic instruction. But students will step up quickly to driving the Sports Renaults which Livingston says are actually easier to race than the Golfs.

Completion of the course satisfies roughly half of the requirements needed for a Sports Car Club of America racing license. After each session, an optional fourth day is available for drivers who want extra practice toward gaining a racing license.

The first three-day session will be July 22-24. Other sessions are scheduled through October.

the youngest competitors at the Games.

"He was a little upset about it," says Joyce.

Brent's difficulties didn't end with the misplaced clothes and shoes. Upon arriving, he discovered he was assigned to a different dormitory and was one of four athletes sharing a single room. "It looked like he was going to have to sleep on a table," says Joyce. "He was kind of upset about that."

The early troubles might have been a reason Brent didn't get off to a smooth start on the mats. He was pinned in his first round match Thursday in the Greco-Roman division, after seemingly having the match under control.

"He was beating the guy," says brother Colin, who is 20, and a wrestling standout himself. "But the other guy tried a head lock and pinned him. I'm sure that (the missing clothes) was on his mind."

Brent lost a second round bout, bowing out of competition. But he has turned around his fortunes in freestyle play, just the way his upper body strength compacted on a 5-foot-2-inch frame gave him victory in all but two of his matches last fall at Grigsby. He even has found his missing clothes, although that will only make for extra suitcases.

After Brent sounded a clothing S.O.S. Wednesday night, Glenn headed to the Games carrying extra shoes and garments packed by Joyce for their son.

Although Brent may be one of the youngest entrants (his first round victim in freestyle play was 17-years-old), it would be a mistake to blame his early difficulties on inexperience.

Brent can be considered an example of a coming breed of wrestler who, taking a liking to the sport, heads for the mats early and often. He has competed in 20 to 25 tournaments this summer alone, points out Colin, and has won a majority of them.

Any concern Joyce might have her son is overdoing it is washed away by his obvious delight in wrestling.

"It has been good for him because he really likes it," she says.

Brent has another thing going for him. His family is rooted in wrestling. Besides Colin, Brent's other two brothers, Todd, 27, and Kirk, 26, were also standout wrestlers in high school.

Colin, who was a member of Granite City North's famous undefeated team and who qualified for state tournament play two years, points out his younger brother is not the only one competing early.

"They're starting younger and younger," says Colin. "They're going to a lot more tournaments. They're getting three times the number of tournaments I went to."

"He really likes it right now," says Colin. "He's more interested in it than burned out. He should do pretty good in high school."

"It's good experience to go to tournaments," Colin says. "Kids who do, have a lot of advantages over kids who don't wrestle during the summer."

Motherly pride swelling proudly, Joyce recalled one of Brent's earliest ventures in tournament wrestling. He was in the third grade when he competed in a tournament in Moline which fielded approximately 1,000 kids of all ages, she remembered.

"He wasn't even supposed to be in it," says Joyce. But he somehow did get in it, and distinguished himself wrestling against kids one and two grade levels higher.

"Seems like he's always going up against kids older than him," says Joyce. "I think most of the kids there are high school age."

Brent soon will be a high-schooler himself. "He's really looking forward to it," says Joyce.

At the moment, however, he is a strong candidate for a medal at one of the state's most prestigious events.

And a well-dressed one, too, his mother would add.

Drag event important in overall race standings

FAIRMONT CITY — For professional drag racer Kenny Bernstein, the upcoming Kangaroo Gateway Nationals holds an exceptional value.

Not only would a win, but would also serve to move him up considerable in the points race for the Pro Funny Car world title.

The Gateway Nationals will be held this weekend at St. Louis International Raceway.

"It's always good to do well in front of your sponsors," the Dallas native said, "but after our mishap at Milan, we fell back in the points standings. A strong showing at St. Louis could put us right back where we want to be. There are six races left and anything could happen."

At Milan, during the final qualifying session for the 16-car show, Bernstein's engine exploded.

"We had had a similar problem the week before," Bernstein explained, "but there was no damage to the car itself. We just decided that to put it back together only to have it happen again would be a waste of time and parts. So we just tore everything apart and began looking for the problem."

Prior to the event, the 41-year-old was only 445 points behind Dale Pulde. But the resulting 16th place finish, coupled with Pulde's victory, dropped Bernstein two positions to fourth and put him 965 points out of first place.

Bernstein is a winner of seven International Hot Rod Association Pro Funny National event titles.

Racing concludes for the Gateway Nationals this Sunday.

Pulde is riding a hot streak of three consecutive IHRA national event wins. His Miller Warrior Buick Regal Funny Car entry has collected over $85,000 thus far this season and currently has an 890 point lead in the battle for the Winston world championship, worth $75,000 in addition prize money.

"We really didn't expect to be in this good of shape," Pulde said after his most recent win, the Motorcraft

Northern Nationals.

"We were super pleased with the car after the Bristol event, but still took it into the wind tunnel in Detroit to see what we could find out. It looks like we learned something after all."

Pulde's 2990 point total has him head and shoulders above the rest of the field, but the 34-year-old knows the race isn't over yet.

"With six events still left on the schedule, anything could happen," Pulde admitted. "But it's still better to be getting chased instead of doing the chasing."

For Bruce Allen, the St. Louis stop represents an opportunity to extend a points lead which he only recently collected. Driving the Reher-Morrison Chevrolet Camaro which carried the late Lee Shepherd to two IHRA-Winston Pro Stock world titles, Allen has appeared in the finals of all three events in which he has entered.

GC Golf Classic Aug. 19

The 16th Annual Jack Buck-Cystic Fibrosis Golf Classic will take place Monday, Aug. 19, at Norwood Hills Country Club. "The annual event is held to raise funds for the Cystic Fibrosis Foundation," said golf chairman, Dan Reilly of Peat Marwick and Mitchell.

The mission is to find a cure and treat children and young adults with Cystic Fibrosis. The proceeds will go to benefit the Cystic Fibrosis Foundation and for education to increase public awareness of the symptoms which include a salty taste of the skin, poor weight gain, recurrent wheezing.

Cystic Fibrosis is responsible for killing more children than any other inherited disease in this country. There is no cure for CF, nor is there a test to identify the approximately 10 million symptomless gene carriers that hold the CF gene.

Festivities begin with lunch on the patio followed by 18 holes of golf. The day will wind up with the players party where Jack Buck, as campaign chairman will present the coveted five-some winners with their award, along with the prizes for a hole-in-one and closest to the hole. As a grand attendance prize, there is a trip for two to Paris, France on TWA.

The golf tournament, which has raised $800,000 during the last 15 years, is a major fund raising event for the Foundation.

For further information, persons should contact the Cystic Fibrosis office at (314) 721-2490.

Deadline approaching for duck stamp art contest

SPRINGFIELD — Application forms are now available for the 1986 Illinois Migratory Waterfowl Stamp Art Contest, administered by the Department of Conservation in cooperation with Illinois Ducks Unlimited.

Entries, completed forms, and the $10 entry fee will be accepted beginning Sept. 15, and concluding at 5 p.m. Wednesday, Sept. 25, according to DCC Director Michael Witte.

The waterfowl stamp contest will be held at the Decatur Holiday Inn, Sept. 28-29, in conjunction with the Second Annual Pride of the Prairie Illinois Wildlife Productions Art Show and Sale and National Hunting and Fishing Day. Judging for the duck stamp art will begin at 9 a.m., Sept. 29.

White said all Illinois residents are eligible, except last year's winning artist and Department of Conservation employees and immediate relatives. The winning art work will be displayed on the 1986 Illinois Migratory Waterfowl Stamp.

The 1985 stamp featured a pair of redheads painted by Princeton artist Bart Kassabaum, who previously won in 1980 and 1983, making him an unprecedented three-time winner.

The subject for the 1986 contest, Witte said, will be the gadwall.

A $1,000 purchase award will be presented to the winner, along with 100 artist proof prints. The winning artist will also have the right to remarque a limited edition of 200 prints for an additional $10 charge per print. A remarque — valued by collectors — consists of a small drawing placed on the print's border.

Contest rules state that only one entry be submitted per individual. The artwork may be completed in any medium but must be in full color. Entries will be judged on biological accuracy and artistic merit by a panel of judges with backgrounds in art, wildlife biology and printing reproduction.

Contest rules and application forms may be obtained by writing: Department of Conservation, ATTN: Curt Bloome, Duck Stamp Art Contest Coordinator, 524 S. Second St., Springfield, Ill. 62706. Questions regarding the Pride of the Prairie Art Show should be directed to: Gene Pride, Illinois Wildlife Productions, 342 Southwest Lawn, Decatur, Ill. 61522; Tel. (217) 428-9143, or 428-4253.
